TOM PERRIGO, Deputy Director, Planning and Development Department, provided a PowerPoint presentation on the proposed action plan and outlined the sustainability priorities discussed during the August 27, 2007 City Council and Planning Commission Strategic meeting. He highlighted the eight actions items, which were Adopt Sustainability Plan, Costs of Expansion, Code Audit, Incentives and Mandates for Green Building, Green Building Benefits to Homeowners, Heat Island Mitigation Plan, Tree Planting Program and Best Practices Report.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING OF: OCTOBER 3, 2007

In response to MAYOR GOODMAN'S query, MR. PERRIGO explained that tree planting is one of the most cost effective ways to promote sustainability. The City is looking at participating and planting trees and then the property owner maintaining them.

MAYOR GOODMAN remarked that Boulder City has started a tree program and wondered how much that cost. COUNCILMAN REESE explained that an application for a new power plant was opposed by the residents. The applicant was asked to donate 5,500 trees in lieu of denying the application.

COUNCILWOMAN TARKANIAN verified with the Mayor that MR. PERRIGO would present a tree program, which will include identifying locations and cost.
